Why Does God Allow Good People to Suffer? (Part 23)

All through the Gospels, we see the sick and the suffering coming to Christ for healing and deliverance. Many of those whom our Lord healed also came to faith in Him as their Savior. Suffering is a way of reminding us of the reality of sin and its consequences, of pointing out that we live in a world which suffers as a result of sin (see Romans 8:18-25). If your suffering has brought you to the point of acknowledging that you are helpless, and that your only hope is God, you are well on your way. Your sufferings will either harden you toward God, or they will soften you, turning you toward Him. If they do turn you to Him in saving faith, you can join with the psalmist, who wrote:

67 Before I was afflicted I went astray, But now I keep Thy word (Psalm 119:67).

92 If Thy law had not been my delight, Then I would have perished in my affliction (Psalm 119:92).

How tragic it would be for you to go through life, free from affliction and adversity, and never come to know the love and grace of God to be found only in the Lord Jesus Christ, who suffered more than you or I will ever be able to fathom, so that we might be forgiven and have eternal fellowship with God. How blessed our afflictions will be to us in heaven, if they have been a means by which we have come to the end of ourselves and have cast ourselves upon the mercy and grace of God in the Person of Jesus Christ

“Are You Wearing Your Mask Correctly?”

Submitted by: Beatrice Ramsey

MISTAKE 2: Your mask comes in contact with your body or your stuff.

Do not touch the front of your mask with your hands after using one, because the front of the mask could be contaminated.

If the coronavirus gets on your clothes, face or body, and your loose mask touches those things, that's a problem, too.

“Concern for improperly wearing a mask is based on the risk of contamination,” Wilson said. “If the inside of the mask touches another part of the body that is contaminated with the virus — hair, forehead, chin, neck, hands, other clothing — then the inside of the mask is returned to the nose and mouth area [where there are] vulnerable mucous membranes, infection can occur.”

And don't leave it resting on your neck when not on your face.

“It's better for the mask not to be around your neck if you've already been wearing it, because then if there was any type of contamination, you don't want [to be] wearing that around your neck,” said Erin Sorrell, an assistant research professor in Georgetown University's department of microbiology and immunology. “The whole purpose of the face mask is to protect your nose and mouth from your own coughs and sneezes and protecting others or protecting you from large spills or large droplets.”
