Some Valuable Nuggets on Forgiveness Ephesians 4:32 (Part 24)

Submitted by: Eric W. Doss

E. BIBLICAL FORGIVENESS IS FINAL.

God doesn't say, "If you do that again, I'm revoking your previous forgiveness!" He says (Heb. 10:17), "Their sins and lawless deeds I will remember no more." To forgive someone is to dismiss the case against him. You can't bring it up again.

Much more could be said, but that gives us some understanding of the nature of biblical forgiveness. But, how do we put it into practice? We need the right perspective or mindset:

2. To forgive others, we must understand the perspective needed for forgiveness.

Many Christian authors emphasize the benefits that forgiving others will bring to you. It's true, you will benefit by forgiving others. You will get rid of your bitterness, which eats at your soul. You will enjoy restored relationships with others, along with many other blessings. But, the benefits for you are really the by-products of forgiveness. Your focus should not be on what's in it for you, but rather on glorifying God and loving others.

Prayer Request

Confess your faults one to another, and pray one for another, that ye may be healed. The effectual fervent prayer of a righteous man availeth much. James 5:16

"The Delta Variant Unknown"- (Part 5)

Submitted by: Beatrice Ramsey

3. The topline data

The broad Covid data is probably the biggest reason to doubt that Delta is meaningfully more severe than earlier versions of the virus. The share of Covid cases leading to hospitalization seems to have held steady or even declined in recent months.

That's true in Britain, including among children too young to be vaccinated. It's true among both vaccinated and unvaccinated Americans in places that publish detailed numbers, like the state of Utah and the city of Seattle. And it's true among the full U.S. population: Total cases have risen almost fifteenfold since their June nadir, while hospital admissions have risen about sixfold.

By themselves, none of these comparisons prove much, because the mix of who gets Covid can change over time. But if Delta were significantly more severe, you'd expect to see some signs that hospitalizations or deaths were rising faster than new cases. Those signs are hard to find.

The bottom line

Figuring out how this data should affect your daily life isn't easy, I realize. The situation is uncertain, and different people will make different decisions.
