"Reasons to Fall in Love with Him" (Part 7)

There is not one good thing in any of us that merits God's love. He does not love us because we are so lovable or because we can somehow make ourselves worthy of His love. We are totally unworthy, yet He prizes us highly and showers His very best on us. It is His love for us that gives us our worth. God finds great delight and receives great glory when we respond to His love, enter His fellowship, and do His will. In fact, He made us for that purpose. But whether or not we ever return His love, He keeps on extending it to us. There is nothing we can do to make Him love us any more, and nothing we ever do will cause Him to love us any less. He loves us perfectly and completely regardless of how we perform. His love is unconditional.

So many of us are performance oriented. We have felt approved and accepted when we have performed to someone else's satisfaction and disapproved and rejected when we have failed to live up to their standards. Consequently, we treat others the same way. If they please us, we treat them kindly and considerately. If they displease us, we feel justified in treating them unkindly and unlovingly. Knowing God intimately will help us express love to others when they do not perform to our expectations.

There is a great Biblical illustration of God's unconditional love in His relationship with the nation Israel. "The LORD did not set His love on you nor choose you because you were more in number than any of the peoples, for you were the fewest of all peoples, but because the LORD loved you and kept the oath which He swore to your forefathers, the LORD brought you out by a mighty hand, and redeemed you from the house of slavery, from the hand of Pharaoh king of Egypt" (Deuteronomy 7:7-8). Can we see what He is implying?

“COVID-19: Aerosols Versus Respiratory Droplets Explained”

Submitted by: Beatrice Ramsey

Please note that airborne transmission “refers to the presence of microbes within droplet nuclei, which are generally considered to be particles [less than 5 micrometers] in diameter, can remain in the air for long periods of time and be transmitted to others over distances greater than 1 m.” In an earlier brief, WHO noted that the organization, “together with the scientific community,” had been actively discussing and evaluating whether SARS-CoV-2 may also spread through aerosols in the absence of aerosol-generating procedures, particularly in indoor settings with poor ventilation.” Aerosol-generating procedures are ones that generate more aerosols than are traditionally released through things like talking.

The difference in the way aerosol and respiratory droplets spread necessitates different prevention strategies. Shelly Miller, a professor of mechanical engineering at the University of Colorado Boulder, highlights the importance of airflow. “The main difference is that to air ventilation rate in addition to all other protocols (wearing a mask and social distancing and going outside and reducing time indoors).”

She urges individuals to also be cognizant of other factors: “not spending too much time in a space where you share the air with many others that may be asymptomatic and infected, wearing a mask indoors, observing whether there are windows open.
